Mile Gain in Italy

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, April 1 (AP)—Allied troops have made a sudden thrust in the ruggedly-mountainous and long-static central sector of the Italian front, advancing a mile and occupying Mt. Marrone, a mile-high peak about 13 miles northeast of Cassino, headquarters announced today. The height was seized by troops of unidentified nationality who smashed forward under powerful artillery support.

In Cassino, meanwhile, Allied heavy guns again shelled the monastery overlooking the devastated town and observers saw the walls collapsing around German positions. Two German raiding parties—one about 40 strong—were beaten tack from the vicinity of the Cassino railway station.

Two American destroyers hammered German positions near Carroceto on the Anzio beachhead and Allied infantry repelled a small but sharp attack on their left flank.

Artillery exchanges and patrol clashes marked the snowbound Eighth Army front. Small enemy parties were dispersed.

Allied air forces in Italy were forced by the weather to reduce activities to about 650 sorties, but the systematic campaign to smash German communications continued with fighter-bomber attacks against bridges along the east coast of Italy.

Two Allied planes were lost.

Mt. Marrone—"Chestnut mountain"—lies six miles southeast of Alfadena and dominates a large part of the Varrecchia valley. The advance tends to straighten out the line between the salients which the Allies improved in reaching Casino and Alfadena during the slow progress of the past months.

Although details of the fighting are not fully available, it was disclosed the attack was supported by assaults on San Michele and Pizzone, about two miles northeast of the mountain. In the last reported fighting in that area two months ago French troops were employed.

Coalition Rule For Italy Urged

NAPLES, April 1 (AP)—The Communist party, through its chief, Palmiro Togliatti, called today for the formation of a coalition "war government" in Italy without insisting further on the abdication of King Emmanuel.

Announcing the new party line at a press conference Togliatti, recently returned from exile in Moscow, said the abdication of the King would hasten a solution of Italy's political problems and that the Communist party would propose replacement of the monarch with a republic after the war.

Japs Near Imphal

By CHARLES A. GRUMICH

NEW DELHI, April 1 (AP)—Strong Jap forces drove farther westward in India toward the British base of Imphal on the plains of Manipur, an Allied communique acknowledged today. Dispatches from the front said enemy patrols had stabbed to within a dozen miles of the jungle communications center.

(A wholly unconfirmed Berlin broadcast, quoting a Tokyo dispatch, said Imphal had been evacuated by the British, March 30).

The Jap advance was reported from the Ukhrul area, 32 miles northeast of Imphal, while British Indian troops were engaged in fierce combat with another strong Jap column in the hills east of Kohima, 60 miles north of Imphal.

Jap losses were heavy, the communique said, especially in the battle near Ukhrul.

Southeast of Imphal Japs ambushed a small British detachment on the Palel-Tamu road Thursday night, but Allied artillery went into action yesterday to blast a block the enemy had thrown across the road midway between the two towns.

Little activity was reported in the direction of Tiddim, British forward base 100 miles below Imphal in Burma. Capture of Tiddim by the Japs was disclosed yesterday.

(Jap-controlled Singapore radio asserted last night the Japs had captured the Mastan road junction between Imphal and Kohima, "virtually isolating" the British Indian Fourth army, which now "faces imminent destruction.")

Vanguards of American-trained Chinese forces in northern Burma continued to drive south from Shaduzup in the Mogaung valley, where they are gradually encircling a force of 1000 Japs near Laban.

Native Burmese, who have been pushing other Jap forces south along the Sumprabum-Myitkyina road below the Daru river, have advanced to a point south of Kadrangyang, 50 miles north of Kyitkyana, headquarters said.

South of Maungdaw Allied troops have advanced to positions south of the western tunnel in the Mayu mountains.

BURMA—Despite heavy losses, Japs drive to within a dozen miles of Imphal on other forces advance in the Kohima area. Meanwhile, British are ambushed on Palel-Tamu road.

Triple Red Sweep

By HENRY C. CASSIDY

MOSCOW, April 1 (AP)—German and Rumanian resistance in southwest Russia was beginning to crumble today as masses of Red army infantry, mobile units of tanks, and Stormvik bombers swept on toward three major objectives—Odessa, Tiraspol and Kishinev.

Front line Soviet dispatches said one intermediate line after another was cracking. These reports said many Rumanians were surrendering as the Russians drove through middle Bessarabia toward Kishinev.

(The Berlin radio said today the Red army spearheads have reached the northern approaches of Jablonica pass, leading through the Carpathian mountains into Czechoslovakia. The broadcast was recorded by the Associated Press.

(The pass is approximately 15 miles south of Delatyn, captured by Russian troops on Thursday. The Berlin radio said the Czechoslovakian border pass was reached by Soviet troops pushing beyond the Borodenka-Kolomea sector west of Czernowitz.)

Wild confusion was reported in Odessa as Gen. Malinovsky's Third Ukrainian army closed on the Black sea port from the east and northeast and other units rushed for the Tiraspol railway junction on the lower Dniester where they could cut the enemy off.

The Soviets have captured the main outposts of Odessa and the Nazis were said to be hurriedly throwing up a middle defense.

A dispatch from Izvestia's correspondent said a group of Moldavian peasants approached the Russians and told them 600 Rumanians wished to surrender.

"Their commander says it would be treason to surrender so he asks you to come and surround them," a peasant was quoted. "Then they'll surrender honorably."

The Red army men complied.

At another place Soviet infantry captured several hundred horses from Rumanian cavalrymen, mounted and commenced the chase toward the Prut.

Other dispatches said disorganized Germans in exhausted groups were running down sticky sideroads without boots as the Russians closed in from captured Ochakov which since 1942 has been known as the "Shield of Odessa."

At the northern end of the Ukrainian front, Marshal Zhukov's troops drew up before the Rumanian and Czechoslovak frontiers.

RUSSIA—Reds (solid arrows) press against crumbling Nazi and Rumanian resistance in drives (open arrows), on Odessa, Tiraspol and Kishinev.

Red Pact Frees Jap Manchurian Troops

CHUNGKING, April 1 (AP)—The Russian-Japanese agreement on the Sakhalin coal and oil concessions was regarded here today as possibly explaining why Japan feels herself free to withdraw troops from Manchuria for action in active war theaters.

Military authorities have refused to discuss what information they have, if any, as to the number of troops involved in the reported transfer, but Chinese arriving here from Manchuria estimated the Japs now had not many more than 200,000 soldiers in that country.

Within the last few weeks, Chinese army spokesmen have warned against the possibility of a major Jap drive to close Chinese-held gaps in the Peiping-Hankow and Tientsin-Pukow railways. Successful, this would have the effect of splitting China in half and neutralizing potential bases from which Japan could be bombed.

(Discussing surrender of the coal and oil concessions, the Tokyo radio in a broadcast recorded by the U. S. Foreign Broadcast Intelligence Service last night told the Japanese people, "The giving up of these rights at this time does not bring much loss on our part."

(Oil production on Sakhalin Island was only 16,000 tons in 1943 compared with a peak of 190,000 tons in 1933, and coal production was only 5000 tons compared to a peak of 240,000 tons in 1935, said the broadcast.)

YANKS IN 4TH RAID ON TRUK

By JOSEPH A. BORS

WASHINGTON, April 1 (INS)—The fourth American bombing attack in two days against the powerful Jap naval base at Truk in the Carolines was announced today by the Navy.

A statement received from Adm. Chester W. Nimitz said Liberator bombers of the Seventh Army Air Force blasted Dublon, Moen and Eten islands in the Truk atoll the night of March 30.

The concentrated assaults March 29-30 obviously were aimed at neutralizing Truk while U. S. fleet units were smashing at Palau, far to the west.

"Hits were made on the airstrip at Moen and in the barracks areas," the announcement said. "Several delayed explosions were observed. Two enemy planes intercepted our bombers, but all returned safely."

Meanwhile secrecy still cloaked the movements of the powerful U. S. Warship Task Force which began attacks on Japan's Palau stronghold, 460 miles east of the Philippines.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, April 1 (AP)—Australian and Australian troops are closing the pincers of their movement on Bogadjim in the campaign to take the Japanese coastal base at Madang, New Guinea.

Positions mentioned in Gen. MacArthur's communique today put Australians 11 miles south of Bogadjim, while American patrols of the 32d Division were 13 miles east of the town.

Bogadjim is 20 miles south of Madang, which has been heavily pounded by Allied aircraft.

Cabinet Weighs Finns' War Fate

There were indications the reported cabinet session may decide on Finland's withdrawal from the war.

U. S. Bombers Ruin Swiss City

BERN, Switzerland, April 1 (AP)—American bombers destroyed a large part of the historical Swiss city of Schaffhausen, killed 30 to 50 persons and wounded 100 in a shower of bombs this morning, the Neue Zuercher Zeitung declared, quoting eyewitnesses.

Schaffhausen, on the Rhine river, just below the German border, apparently was bombed by mistake.)

The first eyewitness report said the industrial city of 20,000 was a scene of destruction and horror with the entire populace working madly to dig victims from the ruins, and fighting fires still ablaze.

Another witness said three squadrons of 50 to 60 four-engined bombers swept over the city shortly before 11 a. m., in a few minutes leaving much of it afire. A Swiss communique said 30 American planes dropped fire bombs.

Casualties were not definitely known, the newspaper said, but included a member of the Cantonal government and the master of a railroad station.

Witnesses said the planes flew along Lake Constance and followed the Rhine, and that signal flares were dropped by the first formation. Then the other planes came in and unloaded explosives and incendiaries.

The factory area of the International Watch Co. was described as a "war zone scene," and hits were recorded on a munitions, electric works, and railway station. The Herrenacker industrial area was especially hard hit.

The city was reported being evacuated because of unexploded bombs. One bomb fell in the market area, but the people had sought shelter. Railroad traffic into the city was halted and there was no telephone communication late today.

American Liberators were later reported battering southwest Germany.

Yanks in Britain Boost Birth Rate

LONDON, April 1 (INS)—American servicemen stationed in the European theater of operations are boosting the British birth rate by an average of 40 babies daily, Reuters' estimated today.

This figure, according to Rena Billingham of Reuters, was calculated by the number of births registered at certain American consulates throughout the United Kingdom. There is no central bureau of vital statistics.

An officer of the consular service in London explained that "although it is impossible to make an accurate statement from this office, we have here an average of two to five births registered a day, and there are nine consular offices which make their own returns."

Even then, the Reuters story continued, consular officials cannot gauge the number of births accurately, since many parents do not realize the births should be registered, despite the notice issued by the United States Army in co-operation with the consular service urging all American fathers to take action.

Children born under these circumstances will enjoy "dual nationality"—British-American—but under present-day conditions the offspring of American soldiers automatically become American citizens.

Many men serving in the overseas forces who failed to take out citizenship papers in the United States are taking oaths of allegiance at consular offices.

Army headquarters said it was impossible to check on the number of marriages in the European theater since any man may marry providing he obtains permission of his commanding officer.

Nuernberg Dead 4600 In Great RAF Raid

NEW YORK, April 1 (AP)—A Swiss dispatch reported to the OWI said today the German city of Nuernberg was "transformed into a blazing heap of ruins" by the RAF Thursday night, and 4600 bodies already recovered and estimates of the dead running as high as 12,600.

Damage to rail lines and the railway station was "especially great," the dispatch said, adding that 50,000 persons left homeless by the raid had spent the night at the site of the prewar Nazi meetings.

VIRGINIA EVANS, 31
Accuses Tulsa Woman

Admits Abusing Mental Slaves

TUSLA, Okla., April 1—A weird tale of how she dominated the lives of two young women, starving and slapping them and forcing them to sit on the floor, was told today by Mrs. Fay H. Smith, middle-aged widow, according to County Attorney Dixie Gilmore.

Picked up following the astounding charge by Willetta Horner, 29, that she and Virginia Evans, 31, had lived for years as "mental slaves" under her domination, Mrs. Smith, far from denying the strange power she exerted over them, confessed, according to Gilmore, she had them completely under her control.

The county attorney quoted her as saying:

"I punished them with words and by making them work. I starved them to keep them pure and to force them to follow a diet in keeping with the metaphysical treatment I was giving them.

"I frequently slapped the girls because of disobedience or to impress them with the necessity of complying my every wish."

She said that while she did not refuse them permission to sit on chairs, they always sat on the floor in her presence as part of a "purification process."

Miss Horner told authorities she had been "imprisoned" for more than five years under a strange occult power exercised by Mrs. Smith. The women's place of "captivity," she said, was a large home on Tulsa's fashionable southside.

Miss Horner said she "escaped" two days ago. She said she and Miss Evans worked at responsible jobs, but at night were "drawn" back to the big house. Here, she said, their earnings were taken away, and they were starved, whipped and forced to sleep on cold, barren floors amid filth.

Gilmore said Mrs. Smith conspired to defraud Miss Evans' father, Tom Evans of Stroud, Okla., of more than $17,000. The father believed his daughter was in the care of trained nurses and physicians Gilmore said.

Gilmore said Mrs. Smith obtained "more than $10,000" under false pretenses from the earnings of the two women.

The county attorney declared federal authorities also were interested in the case. He said Mrs. Smith held ration books for her pet dogs, which were listed as humans.

CHAPLIN READJUSTS COAT AFTER LEAVING STAND
Closing Arguments Monday; Jury Gets Case Tuesday

Counsel Maps Chaplin Plea

LOS ANGELES, April 1 (AP)—All the evidence is in, the rival lawyers are squared away for final arguments, and next Tuesday a jury of seven women and five men will try to decide whether Charlie Chaplin, once beloved mime of the film world, has violated the Mann Act.

For five hours Monday, defense and government counsel will argue opposing views of the relationship between the 54-year-old actor and Joan Berry, 30 years his junior. Federal Judge J. F. T. O'Connor will give his instructions Tuesday, whereafter the jury will retire.

Testimony was concluded late yesterday afternoon. Judge O'Connor then denied Defense Attorney Jerry Giesler's second request for a directed acquittal verdict, and, after a conference with counsel, announced that closing arguments would be limited to two and one-half hours each for prosecution and defense.

The government's contention will be this:

That Chaplin, in October of 1942, caused Joan Berry, his attractive former protege and drama pupil, to be transported to New York city for immoral purposes.

That later in the same month he caused her to be transported back to Hollywood with the same objective.

Chaplin is accused in an indictment of two counts of Mann act violation. If convicted, he is subject to a maximum penalty of five years in prison and $5000 fine on each.

Miss Berry was recalled to the witness stand immediately after Chaplin's defense rested when the comedian had concluded two days of testimony.

Carr asked Chaplin why he raised Miss Berry's movie salary from $75 to $100 a week in 1942, and the defendant answered:

"I thought she was worthy of it."

At that point Chaplin left the stand and after 10 minutes testimony by Charles E. Millikan, Chaplin's attorney in Miss Berry's paternity suit, the defense rested.

Girl's Death Plunge Mystery

SAN FRANCISCO, April 1 (AP)—An attractive red-haired young woman walked away from a group of relatives and friends yesterday at the Cliff House, Ocean View Point.

"I think I'll go swimming," she said.

She mounted a concrete wall 70 feet above the beach sands, peeled off her clothes down to sweater and girdle, raised her arms and leaped in a graceful dive.

She struck a log and was killed.

Police Sergt. Charles Barca found she was Mrs. Dorothea Herrin, 19, Oakland, Cal., mother of a 3-year-old girl and estranged from her husband.

None of her party, Barca said, could explain her death plunge unless, confused, she mistook the sun-mirroring sand for water.

Past National Commander Harry Colmery, of Topeka, Kan., vigorously defended provisions of the GI bill of rights which would give every veteran up to 52 weeks of unemployment compensation when he returns to civilian life. He said:

"I am not afraid of the men and women who are offering every sacrifice to protect this nation.

"I have not lost confidence in them, as, I fear, the chairman of this committee may have."

RANKIN REPLIES

His words were aimed at Rep. John F. Rankin of Mississippi, who has been opposing unemployment compensation during several sessions of the committee. They brought this quick retort from Rankin:

"I have not lost confidence in the veterans. My record in Congress will show that I have always been alert to give the veterans every possible protection and every possible benefit."

The verbal tiff between Colmery and Rankin came up as the hearings before Rankin's World War veterans committee were adjourned apparently until after the Easter recess of Congress.

Rankin has promised that the GI Bill of Rights will be brought out for a vote on the floor of the House the week of April 17, immediately after Congress reconvenes.

BUCKS DOLE PLAN

But he has been bucking provisions for the payment of unemployment compensation, claiming it would only serve to encourage the indolent, the lazy and the "goldbrickers" and to discriminate against the self-reliant veteran who wants to work.

Colmery, who had been on the witness stand for three sessions of the committee, finally exploded. He said:

"This bill is not designed to take care of the indolent and lazy. It is designed to provide protection for the self-reliant man who has served his country and who has offered his life for his country. I don't think that man is either lazy or indolent."

But because there are some indolent and lazy men in America, Colmery said, Rankin would bar the door of opportunity and protection to the veterans.

Miss Willette, slender, brunette junior at Staley College of the Spoken Word, was crowned winner of the college finals sponsored at historic Faneuil Hall by the Boston Daily Record-American-Sunday Advertiser as a part of the nation-wide contest of the Hearst newspapers.

Patterson, son of Col. and Mrs. William Patterson, of Bernard lane, Waban, topped the high school class. Both were awarded $100 war bonds in addition to winning the trip to the Eastern finals.

Runner-up to Miss Willette in the college division was William Cahill of Harvard, a Navy ROTC student from Brookiyn, N. Y., while a Public Latin student, Kevin MacGovern, 17, of Allegheny st., Roxbury, finished second in the high school finals. They were recipients of $50 War Bonds.

Next four in the college division were Frank Colburn, 17, of New Haven, representing Boston University; Barbara Goldberg of Haverhill, representing Emerson. Selma Brick, 19, of Quincy, representing Simmons, and Allen Levy of Tufts. They received $25 bonds.

Also receiving $25 War Bonds as runners-up in the high school finals were Gerald Wolpe, 16, of Roxbury Memorial; Marilyn McCarthy, 16, of Mission High for Girls; Harvey Forman, Mechanic Arts High School, and Frederick Peacott, 16, of South Boston High School.

Winners of both the college and high school classes displayed amazing eloquence and particularly fine mastery of their subject and are well worthy of representing this section in the Eastern zone eliminations.

The keynote of the contest was sounded by Judge Elias F. Shamon of Boston Municipal Court, who said in his introductory remarks:

"Following the example of John Paul Jones, America is on her way to free the seas again for all nations, once and for all. May the spirit of John Paul Jones, his courage and successes, crown the efforts of our great Navy of today."

Besides Judge Shamon, other judges of the contest were Dr. Albert Ehrenfried, noted author, lecturer and surgeon; Atty. Edward F. Mullen, orator and noted language translator, and Lieut. Paul E. Bottome, USN, instructor at Harvard.

Both the afternoon and evening sessions opened with the singing of "The Star-Spangled Banner" by Seaman James J. Joyce of the U. S. Coast Guard Band, followed by the "Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag," led by Marybelle Tirrell of Tobin ct., Roxbury, honor senior at Jamaica Plain High School.

Boston Police To Discuss Union

Boston policemen will discuss organization of a union within their ranks at a meeting this month, William V. Ward, president of American Federation of State, City and Municipal Employes, disclosed today.

Ward said he had been approached by members of the department about policemen joining a non-strike union within the American Federation of Labor.

Police Commr. Thomas F. Sullivan, informed of the move, commented that policemen were forbidden to join unions.

He cited Sec. 21, Rule 35, Revised Police Department rules, 1941:

"A member of the force shall not join or belong to any organization, club or body composed of present or present and past members of the force which is affiliated with or a part of any organization, club, or body outside the department, except that a post of the United Spanish War Veterans and the American Legion or World War veterans may be formed within the department."

Hershey Warns All Must Work Harder for Victory

WASHINGTON, April 1 (AP)—From now on, "we must meet the calls for military manpower as they are made" Draft Director Lewis B. Hershey told local draft boards today. "Industry and agriculture must make adjustments suggested by demands upon them," Hershey said in an editorial in "Selective Service," monthly bulletin sent to 6400 boards.

"If withdrawal from industry and agriculture of men best fitted physically and psychologically for military service—those 18 to 26—means the rest of us must work harder and longer in shop and office, in mine or on farm, that is a contribution for victory that admits of no refusal by any person for whose protection that victory must be won."

Meantime the Committee of Manpower Claimants headed by Paul V. McNutt, set up to advise selective service on the question of deferring key men under 26, was taking a week-end recess. Two days of discussion failed to produce decisions as to what industries should have deferment consideration.

DEFERMENTS OPPOSED

The War Production Board, Army and Navy, which came into the committee meetings with a list of munitions programs they recommended for consideration, were reported opposing inclusion of certain other activities for which other government claimant agencies were making strong appeals.

The selective service bulletin, including new draft figures as of March 1, also disclosed that about 4,200,000 men under 26 held non-agricultural job deferments. This is a larger figure than estimated. Government agencies used an earlier figure of 365,000.

The bulletin said of the 574,000 men, 330,000 were non-fathers. The total number of men with non-agricultural deferments (Classes 2-A and 2-B) was 3,677,000, of whom 2,695,000 were fathers.

LIST 1,722,000 FARMERS

The March 1 table also showed agricultural deferments totalled 1,722,000, of whom 835,000 were fathers. Among those with farm deferments were about 613,000 men under 26, and 530,000 were non-fathers.

Class 3-A had dwindled to 1,432,000 men by March 1, well over a million registrants having been withdrawn from that class in February.

The number in 1-A on March 1 was 1,871,000, of whom 1,226,000 were fathers.

Class 4-F had swelled to 3,623,000, the largest number ever in 4-F. There were only 369,000 fathers in 4-F.

Army Dad's Triplets Given Five Layettes

NEW YORK, April 1 (AP)—New York's new triplets had enough three-cornered clothing today to see them through infanthood, and they and the city's new quadruplets, born the day before at the same hospital all had their names.

The triplets, born to Muriel and Corp. Herbert Bachant Thursday at Sloane Hospital for Women, were named Janet Lee, Karen Anne and Nancy Sue. They were visited by a military delegation from Army Emergency Relief yesterday, which presented them with five complete layettes.

Mrs. Bachant sent word to her husband, now stationed in England, that all his daughters looked like him.

The quadruplets, children of Harry Zarief of Rochester, N. Y., concertmaster of the Columbia Broadcasting System Symphony Orchestra, and Eleanor Zarief, were referred to by their mother as babies A, B, C, and D.

Baby A henceforth will be known as Ellen, baby B as Benjamin Watson after the doctor who attended at the birth, baby C as Elaine and baby D as Isadora after Mrs. Zarief's parents, Dora and Isadore Miller.

The seven babies are in robust health.

Lonergan Faces 20 Years

NEW YORK, April 1 (AP)—A glittering road which Wayne Lonergan traveled from modest circumstances into a world of wealth and luxurious living came to an abrupt end today—with prison walls its terminus.

The glitter ended on a gray morning last October when his attractive, estranged wife, Patricia, 23-year-old heiress to a $7,000,000 brewery fortune, was bludgeoned and strangled in her triplex apartment.

The terminus burst suddenly into view last night when, after a two-week trial, a jury of 12 middle-aged businessmen convicted the 26-year-old Canadian aircraftman of second degree murder. Judge Maurice Garrett Wallace fixed April 17 for imposing a 20-year-to-life sentence which the verdict demands.

Air Officer in Hub Tells of Alaska Life

Civilian venders of the lowly hamburger in Alaska get 50 cents for it and 25 cents for the coffee to wash it down, Lieut. Wilbur D. Gould, Air Forces officer here on leave, reported today. As for a high-ball, the price is $1.50 and no wheeling about the high cost of living, Gould said.

A Hartford, Ct., resident, he came home to see his 2-month-old son, Richard Charles, for the first time. Gould, his wife, Georgette, and the baby are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Scanlon of Haven rd., Braintree.

Gould was a top sergeant in the first American force to go overseas, July, 1941. He saw service in Hawaii and Iceland before joining the Alaska Command of the Air Force.

The general health of soldiers in Alaska is good, even while the temperature is 50 below zero, he said.

"But when it thaws and 'goes up' to 30 below, the boys often pick up colds," he added.

Quincy Marine Gets Medal For Bougainville Gallantry

Marine Pvt. William R. MacPherson, 22, of Granite st., Quincy, credited with destroying the crews of two Jap machine guns on Bougainville last Nov. 22, has been awarded the Silver Star Medal for "Conspicuous gallantry," it was revealed today in a Marine announcement.

The high honor was modestly accepted by young MacPherson, who pointed out he was not alone on that day "when they said my aim was so good."

"Sticking with me in our machine gun squad were two of my buddies who have been with me since our outfit was formed in the summer of 1942," MacPherson said. "They should have some credit for what they did."

He listed his buddies as Pvt. Robert A. Nash, son of Louis T. Nash of the Parker House, Boston, and Pvt. Robert J. Murphy of Phoenix, N. Y.

The presentation was made MacPherson at the Marine Barracks, Mare Island, Cal., by Col. James E. Betts, at a formal guard mount and review of Marines on duty. Congratulations of Maj.-Gen. John Marsten, commanding the Marines in the Pacific were also sent.

The prize medal was given MacPherson by order of Adm. William W. F. Halsey, in the name of the President.

The accompanying citation lauded MacPherson for "conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity in action" during an attack by enemy infantry. Although the troops nearby took cover, MacPherson, without consideration for his own safety, remained at his gun and opened fire on the enemy, destroying the crews of two of the enemy machine guns.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. William MacPherson, the young Marine is currently stationed at Mare island while convalescing from a tropical ailment that caused his removal from Bougainville last Dec. 10. He formerly worked at Fore River shipyard.

Probe of War News Demanded

OMAHA, April 1 (AP)—Palmer Hoyt, Oregon publisher and former domestic director for the Office of War Information, urged today creation of a Senate committee to investigate "the whole matter of war news."

Hoyt, in a speech prepared for delivery at a Chamber of Commerce luncheon here, declared that "such a committee could properly strengthen the efforts of Elmer Davis (head of OWI) to do his number one job."

Hoyt said he believed Davis should "sit with the high command" to review war news, and "at least have a voice in deciding what should be released."

Share-Car Plea Pressed by ODT

A renewed appeal for motorists to increase car-sharing was made by M. R. Colgan, district manager of the ODT's division of motor transport today, as he warned that the amount of gasoline available for civilian use is growing smaller.

Colgan said that 30 per cent of the gasoline produced east of the Rockies goes to the armed services and that this amount may be increased to 40 per cent.

On the Pacific Coast, conditions are even worse, with the Army and Navy now taking 40 per cent of the gasoline available and the increased tempo of the Pacific warfare threatening to claim even 50 per cent of the supply.

Have a Coca-Cola = Kia Ora
(GOOD LUCK)

...or sealing friendships in New Zealand

Kia ora, says the New Zealander when he wants to give you his best wishes. The American soldier says it another way. Have a "Coke", says he, and in three words he has made a friend. It's a phrase that says Welcome, neighbor from Auckland to Albuquerque, from New Zealand to New Mexico. 'Round the globe, Coca-Cola stands for the pause that refreshes,—has become the high-sign between friendly-minded people. So, of course, Coca-Cola belongs in your icebox at home.

It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called "Coke".

Senate Confirms Bone as Judge

1944 Food Supply Points 1943 Rations

There's going to be just about the same amount of food available for civilians in 1944 as there was a year ago—no more, but no less.

That's the outlook presented by Francis D. Cronin, regional director, Office of Food Distribution, of the War Food Administration.

Some commodities will be more plentiful than others. Fresh meats, butter, canned fruits and other items vitally needed by the armed forces may not be too plentiful. But on the whole, everyone should be able to maintain a sufficiently full and varied diet.

Briefly, civilians will get approximately 75 per cent of the entire food supply, with 13-14 per cent going to the armed forces and 10.5 per cent for United Nations and liberated areas.

Without experiencing any of the drastic shortages of the past year, civilians will find fresh meat relatively scarcer for the next few months, although there will be 50 per cent more canned meat than in 1943.

Evaporated milk supplies also will be smaller but larger supplies of margarine should offset the demand for butter. Dried fruits will be plentiful for some time and there will also be a fair supply of canned vegetables.

Some of the best news is contained in the declaration that supplies of coffee, tea and cocoa will be more liberal than in 1943.

Would Amend Soldier Vote Law

WASHINGTON, April 1 (INS)—Sen. Green (R.) of Rhode Island today introduced a bill in the Senate to carry out President Roosevelt's plea for immediate amendment of the new soldier vote law, which the chief executive criticized as "wholly inadequate."

The amendment asked by Mr. Roosevelt in his measure announcing he was allowing the states' rights vote bill to become law without his signature would wipe out barriers to wide distribution of the federal ballot.

Green said he introduced the measure on behalf of himself and Sen. Lucas (D.) of Illinois, cosponsor of the Administration's federal ballot plan. The bill was referred to the Senate privileges and elections committee.

"...I will return!" Thus, two years ago, General MacArthur sounded the battle-cry. And like the relentless force of a gathering storm, America is turning the fury of total war into the Pacific.

We are going back to Bataan!

General MacArthur well knows the indispensable part America's railroads are playing in the war. He directs more intense fighting with the assurance that greater numbers of men and larger amounts of war materials will flow across America to Pacific ports smoothly and efficiently.

For ROCK ISLAND LINES and other western railroads, big war tasks lie ahead. Facing these tasks with confidence, ROCK ISLAND will back America's Pacific forces with redoubled efforts to do an even finer war job. Our equipment, our rolling stock and our manpower will give a good account of themselves.

In the peace that follows, ROCK ISLAND will provide a transportation service that the crucible of war has helped to refine and perfect, for—

As yesterday—and today—so tomorrow ROCK ISLAND'S sole purpose is to provide the finest in transportation

Ban on Burning of Paper Demanded by WPB Man

It was estimated today that several hundred tons of waste paper will be saved if householders throughout New England heed the plea of Regional Director W. H. Wheeler, Jr., of the War Production Board, not to burn it in stoves and furnaces.

Said Wheeler: "During the early spring days of rapidly changing temperatures there is a tendency to use paper for heating purposes to piece out reduced fuel supplies. "Of course there is no objection to using a small amount of paper, just to kindle a fire, but in view of the present shortage this vital war material should not be used as a substitute for coal or wood.

"Exceptions can be made in houses where there are old or sick people and there is no coal or wood in a house that must be warmed, but under all other circumstances householders should refrain from burning paper."

Additional waste paper bins will be placed in three new locations Monday, it was announced by Salvage Director George G. Hyland. One will be placed in front of the Park Square building, one in front of the Liberty Mutual building and another outside the post-office.

Sen. Caraway Has Campaign Hat

WASHINGTON, April 1 (AP)—With Hattie Caraway it's the hat that helps win elections.

Now that she has acquired a new straw Easter bonnet, Mrs. Caraway is ready to go home to Arkansas and begin her campaign for reelection as the only woman senator.

"Always," she explained, "I've chosen just one special hat for each campaign. This one should do for this summer."

It was the late Sen. Huey P. Long who impressed upon her the importance of the hat.

Long, starting a speaking tour in behalf of her initial campaign to succeed her husband, the late Senator Caraway, in 1932, said:

"There's just one thing more . . . that hat you're wearing, you mustn't change it until election day. If you do, I'll walk out on you immediately."

The hat, and the Hattie under it, won.

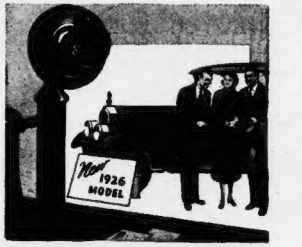
Poles Slay Nazi Chief, 6 Aides in Warsaw

LONDON, April 1 (AP)—A running gun battle in the center of Warsaw in which a Nazi high official named Smack and six of his bodyguards were slain by Polish underground avengers was reported today by the Polish Telegraph Agency.

We have had lower "ceilings" for 18 years!

YOU HEAR a lot of talk these days about "ceilings" and inflation—much of it in generalities hard to understand. Perhaps you'll welcome some plain figures and a simple explanation relating to the "ceilings" over something you use every day—your telephone service. Here they are:

PRESENT RATES WERE SET IN 1926



1 "Ceilings" are not new in telephone rates. . . . Those we operate under now were set 18 years ago, when a post-war (World War I) rate increase became effective to compensate the Company for inevitably higher costs resulting from war.

BETTER SERVICE WITH LOWER COSTS TO CUSTOMERS

2 Since 1926, portions of our rate "ceiling" have been lowered year by year; none has been raised. Savings to the average customer have amounted to between four and five dollars a year . . more service at less cost to you. Meanwhile the Company gets about $7,000,000 a year less than it would under 1926 rates.

3 HIGHER TAXES HELP WIN THE WAR

While the rate "ceiling" has been getting lower, our tax "floor" has been steadily rising. In 1926, the Company's taxes were $4.26 per telephone then in service. In 1943, taxes were $11.90 per telephone. That's one contribution toward winning the war

Dividend 1926

Dividend 1943

4 EXPANSION OF TELEPHONE SERVICE IS FINANCED MOSTLY BY STOCKHOLDERS

With the space between the rate "ceiling" and the tax "floor" steadily growing smaller, our 14,000 stockholders have received less and less. In 1926, they got dividends at a rate of $8 per share; in 1943, they received $5.75 per share, the lowest rate in 45 years.

Unless you are a stockholder the dividend may not seem important. But it is. Stockholders provide most of the money with which we build lines and offices, buy dial equipment and telephone instruments, make other improvements in service. The size of the dividend affects the amount of new money the stockholders will invest in the business. It has to be enough to make an attractive investment.

NO PROFITS OUT OF THE WAR

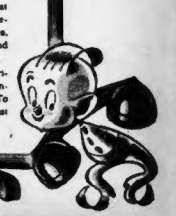
5 The Telephone Company does not want to make money out of the war, and it is not doing so. Not profit in 1943 was, with a single exception, the lowest in percentage of revenue for any year since 1925.

The exception was in 1938 when the disastrous hurricane made even normal profits impossible. But the Company wants to make money during the war because it does want to stay in business. And after the war all we want is an adequate return.

TO SUM IT UP:

Our rate "ceiling" has been falling—for 18 years. That spells accomplishment in meeting the problems of peace and of war of good times and of bad, from inside the business. Service has been improved. The wages of employees have been kept abreast of the times. Economies of operation, largely resulting from research and from higher skill, have permitted us to pay taxes, now $13,000,000 above the 1926 level, to Federal, State and local treasuries.

We might refer to all this in resounding terms as the "American way of doing things." Actually it is just that, and a continuation of the long-term policy of the telephone industry "To furnish the best telephone service, and the most, at the least cost consistent with financial safety."



NEW ENGLAND TELEPHONE & TELEGRAPH CO.

Murder Pinned on 2 By Old Police Ruse

One-time pals, whose friendship had been eaten away by suspicion and terror, John L. "Limey" Wilson and Francis J. Murray, 28-year-old Charlestown truck driver were tricked into their betrayal of one another by an old police ruse, it was learned today.

Before bringing the two men face to face in a dramatic meeting at Charles st. jail, police investigators played upon the feeling of distrust which had grown up between them in the weeks and months they had preserved their guilty secret.

As a result, when Murray was brought to Charles st. jail after pleading not guilty in Charlestown Court to a charge of participating in the murder of Mrs. Catherine McGinley, 85-year-old widow, Wilson blurted out that Murray had also been present at the slaying of Mrs. Mary I."Belle" Hanson in a South End cellar excavation.

FRANCIS J. MURRAY
Tells of Killing Two Women

NEW EVIDENCE FOUND

To the surprise of everyone, Murray readily admitted the charge with the statement "You're right, Limey, I was there," it was learned.

New and additional evidence, incriminating both men in the two murders, will be presented by Capt. Edward T. Keating of the Bureau of Criminal Investigation and Capt. Louis DiSessa, of the Charlestown station to Asst. Dist. Atty. Francis Hickey today.

Murray, it was learned, not only confessed to taking part in the murder of the two women with Wilson but also furnished police with new information on hitherto unexplained aspects of the crimes.

He is reported to have described in vivid detail how Mrs. McGinley was the victim of a torture murder for money she was believed to have in her apartment, and how Mrs. Hanson was criminally attacked before she was killed.

Wilson has confessed to both murders, and is awaiting trial, also in Charles st., jail on charges of being accessory after the fact of a third murder—that of Mrs. Alice D. Sheridan of Charlestown.

Accompanied by Wilson, Murray said, he went to a South End cafe and there "picked up" Mrs. Hanson. After having several drinks they took her to a vacant lot, where Murray said he attacked her and then, with Wilson's aid, murdered her.

In his jail cell late yesterday, Murray was confronted by a waitress employed at the cafe from which, he said, he and Wilson lured Mrs. Hanson to her death. The waitress identified him as the man who had accompanied Mrs. Hanson from the cafe on the last night she was seen alive.

TELLS HORROR STORY

In his confession to the murder of Mrs. McGinley, Murray told a horrifying story of how Wilson had tortured and beaten the aged widow during her refusal to give up her money, and how at last he had bludgeoned her into unconsciousness and death.

Before making this confession, Murray had been taken to Charles st. jail and had confronted Wilson. Murray identified Wilson as the torture slayer. Wilson in his own confession to the murder, had claimed it was accidental.

Murray said he endeavored to stop Wilson and struggled to prevent the murder.

Murray said that Wilson then took money from the room, that a fire was started under the slain woman's body, in an effort to destroy the corpse and burn down the house to cover the evidence of the crime. The fire went out.

Cello Cellar

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., April 1 (AP)—As Fabian Sevitzky, director of the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra, raised his baton for the first number of concert here he noticed that a cellist was missing.

There was a hurried search and it was found that en route to the concert hall the musician had taken a wrong turn and had plunged, full dress, and with his cello, into a swimming pool.

Army Seeks Aid In Dock 'Strike'

Brig.-Gen. Clarence H. Kells, Boston Port of Embarkation commanding officer, today turned to the mayor's special committee for aid in settling differences with longshoremen at the Army Base.

Gen. Kells conferred with the city organization after a discussion of the situation with State Labor Commr. James T. Moriarty.

Meeting Gen. Kells were James Truden, former railroad official; Daniel J. Donovan, international vice-president of the Longshoremen's Union; John Levins, chairman of the Boston conference of steamship operators, and contract stevedores.

Maj. P. Stokes Gaither, Base public relations officer, termed the dispute a "strike." He said the men refused to work Thursday because they maintained the weather was dangerous to them and to cargoes.

Donovan charged the Army refused to assign jobs to longshoremen who had not worked Thursday.

Issues Challenge To Congressman

TORONTO, April 1 (AP)—Vivian Kellems, Westport, Ct., war contractor, today challenged Rep. Coffee (D.) of Washington to make outside Congress his charges that she is the sweetheart of a Nazi agent in Argentine and is a "menace to the American war effort."

In a 500-word statement replying to charges Coffee made on the House floor yesterday in Washington, Miss Kellems dared him "to make those same statements where I can hale you into court, force you to prove them or put you in prison where you belong."

Cambridge Tops Red Cross Quota

Congratulations were today extended the Cambridge Chapter of the American Red Cross for its achievement of exceeding its 1944 War Fund quota by 3 per cent, with cash gifts totaling $275,798 reported.

Chapter Chairman Harding A. Greene announced the outcome of the drive at a final report luncheon, at which Msgr. Augustine F. Hickey, pastor of St. Paul's Church, praised the Red Cross for the fine service it has rendered Cambridge in the past.

The industries division of the Fund drive was singled out for special praise. Headed by Floyd D. Campbell, industry went over the top on a $95,000 quota, voluntarily accepted a $106,500 quota and surpassed that.

A congratulatory telegram to Paul R. Corcoran, Cambridge campaign general chairman, from J. H. Heckman of the North Atlantic area, American Red Cross, was read at the meeting.

Ask Bar Closing For Good Friday

The Boston Licensing Board has requested that no alcoholic liquors be sold in Boston between noon and 3 p. m. Good Friday.

The request was contained in a letter to all clubs, hotels, taverns and package goods stores which read: "Good Friday is observed throughout the Christian world by special services; therefore the board requests its beverage licensees to discontinue sale of alcoholic beverages during that period."

Slips for 29,000,000 Gallons of Gas in Loot

BATON ROUGE, La., April 1 (AP)—Authorities searched today for thieves who pulled what police described as a "smooth professional job" in escaping with OPA gasoline coupons worth more than 29,000,000 gallons, enough to supply the state of Louisiana for a month and a half.

The coupons were taken from a ration office safe with various ration books good for 77,950 pairs of shoes, 19 bicycles, sugar and other commodities.

OPA Food Rule For Ill Revised

WASHINGTON, April 1 (AP)—The Office of Price Administration today announced a revised procedure for granting supplemental food rations for persons who are ill.

At present local rationing boards handle applications for all such special allotments. Effective April 6, boards will issue extra rations only for certain illnesses "generally accepted as requiring more food," OPA said. In the case of other illnesses, local boards will pass applications on to OPA district offices for consideration.

Additional points for meats, fats and oils will be issued by local boards in cases of pregnancy or if a person is suffering from diabetes mellitus, active tuberculosis, chronic nephritis, cirrhosis of the liver sever hopatitis, chronic suppurative diseases—including empyema of the chest cavity, osteomyelitis, extensive suppurative lesions of the soft parts, subcutaneous tissues or muscles and those infections in which there is acute pus formation—severe burns, gastro-intestinal lesions.

Local boards are authorized to issue extra rations of processed foods when the applicant is suffering from diabetes mellitus or active tuberculosis.

Sargent Girls In Exhibition

Back in 1911, Sargent girls in pompadours, middies and black bloomers marched down the Boston Arena floor in the first of what has proved to be a long line of year by year exhibitions of the talents and skills in which they have been trained.

This year marks the 42d presentation of this demonstration and Boston Arena is again the scene tonight at 8:15. Folk and modern dances, massed drills, tumbling, stunts and pyramids will again have prominent places on the program.

In a dress parade conducted by Maj. Michael Lannon, Sargent girls will join the ranks with the thousands of present-day recruits to go through their marching and military manual of arms with the precision and speed of any of the boys breaking into the routine of Army life. Maj. Lannon of Watertown, who has drilled the girls, is a member of the 101st Infantry, a holder of the Purple Heart, the Silver Star and two French decorations from World War I.

Tennessee Bus Strike Continues

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 1 (AP)—Union bus drivers and street car operators continued a two-day work stoppage in Nashville and Chattanooga today, while in Atlanta a spokesman for the regional War Labor Board asserted a U. Rites Planned for Hub Flier

The body of Lieut. Gerald Connor, USNR, 28, of Mattapan, recovered from the wreckage of a Navy plane which crashed near Danbury, Ct., Thursday, will be brought back to Boston for burial.

Informed of the air tragedy, which occurred as Connor, blind-flying instructor, was flying his commanding officer from Atlanta, Ga., to Hartford, his wife, Mrs. Louise Pearson Connor, former Medford school teacher, left Atlanta for Boston.

She said that the funeral would be held from her husband's former home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Connor, of Callendar st., Mattapan. She is the daughter of Deputy Fire Chief Ernest F. Pearson, of Medford.

A graduate of Bridgewater State Teachers College, Connor entered naval aviation the day after Pearl Harbor. Before the war he had been employed by John Hancock Insurance Co.

An AAF Report on the Aviation Cadet Program

Thanks to the young men of America, the AAF is seizing air supremacy in every theatre, faster than we ever planned or even dared to hope.

Thanks to youth's eagerness to serve, the AAF has grown in a remarkably short time from a mere handful of men into the largest, most powerful air force in the world.

Thanks to the fitness and alertness of these young men, they have learned their job so quickly that we have been able to throw our great airplane production into effective combat quicker than we believed possible. Due to their daring and skill we are destroying the enemy with less loss to our own forces than we anticipated.

All air crew men must have the irresistible desire to fly. Every such flying man in the AAF is there on his own initiative . . . in response to our invitation to fly and fight with "The Greatest Team in the World." Hundreds of thousands have thronged to our Aviation Cadet Examining Boards in response to this appeal. Thousands are continuing to volunteer . . . for active duty . . . and for the 17-year-old Air Corps Enlisted Reserve.

Our gratitude to the young men of America, and to their parents, friends and associates . . . is without bounds. We should like to welcome on our team any qualified young man who wishes to join. But there are other considerations . . . a balanced attack must be maintained.

Since last July the Selective Service process had not yielded enough men for all phases of the military program. Other branches of the army urgently need men for currently pending operations.

The AAF is ahead of schedule. It has sufficient men in training and in the Air Corps Enlisted Reserve to meet its present schedule for combat crews. It must therefore balance this activity with immediate over-all needs.

As General Marshall has announced, the AAF has returned to their former commands some 36,000 men who had recently volunteered for air crew training from the ground and service forces. Moreover, until further notice, the AAF will not take any men into active duty from civilian life for air crew training. Also, further enrollment in the 17-year-old Air Corps Enlisted Reserve has been temporarily suspended.

The future of America depends upon the fitness of our young men. All of the armed services need young men who are physically fit, mentally alert and well educated for the exacting demands of modern war.

The AAF urges every man approaching military age to prepare himself physically and mentally for his possible contribution to the defeat of our enemies and for his responsibilities in the post-war world.

We suggest, among other things, the physical training and other preparatory courses of the High School Victory Corps which are recommended for the various armed services, and the physical and pre-aviation training given to CAP Cadets by the nation-wide organization of the Civil Air Patrol, an auxiliary of the Army Air Forces.

The AAF current training program will, of course, continue. All men now enrolled in the Air Corps Enlisted Reserve will start their training after they become 18 as originally planned. And we will soon again take young men of 17 into the Air Corps Enlisted Reserve.

Meanwhile, in recognition of the overwhelming public support given the AAF, we shall continue to report developments—so that when we invite further active enrollment on our flying team, the nation will be familiar with our activities and the vital nature of our needs.

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, SAT., APRIL 1, 1944

Don't Give Our American Ships Away

ONE OF the war production goals undertaken by the nation after the Pearl Harbor attack was the construction of some twenty million tons of cargo merchant ships and transports within two years.

So long as the war continues, these fleets must be used or kept available for military and naval service.

But what will be done with them when the war is over?

The United States has had a previous experience along the same lines which ought surely to tell us what NOT to do.

Before the first World War, we had neglected to maintain an adequate peacetime American Merchant Marine.

When we got into that war, and Army ships and Naval auxiliaries were vitally needed, we had to build ships in a hurry, and we came out of that war with a great tonnage of vessels.

Some of them were retained in service for operation by American shipping lines under Federal regulation, as the basis supposedly for a permanent Merchant Marine.

More of them went to "graveyards" in our harbors, eventually becoming scrap.

Others were sold to foreign interests at bargain prices, becoming competitors with our own ocean carriers.

Unfortunately, too, the domestic "ship market" was demoralized by unwise "liquidation" methods, and only a few of our wartime shipyards remained in business.

We had some continuation of ship construction, for passenger trade mainly, we had some successful operating companies; and we had a succession of shipping boards; but whatever effort was made to keep our merchant flag on the seas, IT WAS NOT ENOUGH TO PROVIDE MORE THAN A MERE FRACTION OF THE SHIPPING NEEDED WHEN WE BECAME INVOLVED IN THE SECOND WORLD WAR.

The consequence was that the costly emergency shipbuilding program of 1917-1918 had to be repeated and magnified.

We had failed to learn one lesson that should have been obvious—to MAINTAIN a Merchant Marine IN SERVICE adequate to serve as the Navy's necessary auxiliary when war came again.

HAVE WE LEARNED THAT LESSON YET?

IN ANSWER to the question, Representative S. O. Bland, of Virginia, chairman of the House Merchant Marine Committee, has introduced a bill in Congress to establish a formula with which the Maritime Commission must comply in disposing of ANY PART of the merchant fleet.

The Bland Bill would prevent the sale of any ships constructed during the war at prices less than a fixed percentage of the cost of construction.

The bill would prescribe terms of payment for ships sold to AMERICAN concerns.

The bill would require that SPOT CASH be paid for any ships sold to any purchaser NOT A CITIZEN OF THE UNITED STATES.

Congress will act wisely and patriotically if it passes the Bland Bill as a nucleus for new Merchant Marine legislation.

If a subsidy system is needed to meet foreign competition and protect American wage standards, SUBSIDIES WILL BE CHEAP as compared with the fantastic costs of failing again to keep an American Merchant Marine in being and finding ourselves again compelled to lavish billions of dollars on a THIRD war emergency fleet.

All this is a proper subject for timely and comprehensive congressional action. Congress should especially assure that our costly and invaluable NEW Merchant Marine will not be fatuously GIVEN AWAY to alien interests by our Government under some adaptation of Lend-Lease.

The Legislature's Duty

WHEN IT meets in special session, the Massachusetts Legislature will neglect its obligation to an important group of Americans if it fails to act on the extension of the voting privilege to service men of eighteen, nineteen and twenty years of age.

These young Americans who are considered mature enough to die for liberty must have their full and proper share of liberty.

Perhaps the young service men can be made voters by the simple process of amending an existing law.

Or perhaps it will be necessary to set legal machinery in motion to change the Constitution.

BUT WHATEVER IS REQUIRED SHOULD MOST CERTAINLY BE DONE.

From the standpoint of mental fitness alone, there can be no real doubt in any unbiased observer's mind that a youth of eighteen, nineteen or twenty has as sound a judgment on voting as a "man" of twenty-one, twenty-two or twenty-three.

He is fresh from high school or college. He is imbued with high American ideals. He is alive, fair-minded and honest in facing the problems of his municipality, State and nation.

Why, then, should he not stand shoulder to shoulder with his elders at the ballot-box as he stands shoulder to shoulder with his elders on the battlefield?

A MEMBER of the SPARS has requested a poem to go along with gifts and flowers to her mother on the latter's birthday. I hope the above will be satisfactory . . . Of the couples divorced in the United States, 71 per cent are childless . . . Seymour Hicks rightly said: "A man does not buy his wife a fur coat to keep her warm but to keep her pleasant" . . . A Napa, Cal., reader said in 1936, when in high school student, she owned a flivver which was nicknamed "The Jeep," after the animal in the Popeye cartoon. So Napa seems to have beaten the U. S. Army to the use of this name. Incidentally, there now seems to be no doubt that the U. S. Army Jeep takes its name from the cartoon animal aforementioned.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—Who are the 10 best generals in the world today? A—Ask me after the war when all the information as to military strategy, etc., has been made public . . . Q—Can you tell me the name of the poem which starts: "This is the story of Lily Sin, and the preacher who taught her to pray."? A—Never heard of it. Sounds as if it had a plot something like the play "Rain" . . . Q—Why do people say it is not good policy for a girl to go out with a man who works in the same office? A—Don't know why they say it. But it isn't true. Some of the happiest marriages I know of are between people who met because of their working in the same office . . . Q—Did you know the niece of a famous film star is working her way through college by cooking in a restaurant? A—No, I don't know that. I suppose you mean to point out the star should pay for his niece's education. Maybe he can't afford it the way income taxes are now. Maybe he has more relatives to take care of. Besides, the niece in earning her own education is doing something she will be proud of in later years.

BRIEFLY: "Why don't they raise the WAC enlistment age to 55?" asks a Californian. "I am 53 and would like to become a WAC and do my bit. I tried on a WAC uniform. It made me look real young and snappy, which is just the way I feel" . . . A U. S. Navy man in the Southwest Pacific says his sweetheart doesn't have to worry about anybody stealing his heart. And adds: "I haven't seen a woman of any kind in 19 weeks and no white woman for nearly six months."

PASSING BY: Mary Magdalena Von Losch Sieber. Professionally known as Marlene Dietrich. She will celebrate her 21st wedding anniversary this year . . . Irene Castle McLaughlin. Once a member of the most popular dance team of all time. It will be recall at this time that Irene's clever husband, Vernon Castle, was killed while serving his country in the Royal Air Force in World War I. At present Mrs. McLaughlin is president of the celebrated Orphans of the Storm Animal Refuge in Deerfield, Ill. She devotes most of her time to this work.

ASIDES: Thomas F. Tighe of Baltimore says he has been a subscriber to the same newspaper for 62 years . . . I don't say a woman whose husband's name is Charles should not address him as "Charles," but I like it better when she calls him "Charlie." That's what my mother always called my father . . . Writes a New Yorker: "In the song 'Victory Polka' the words refer to the boys marching 'down' Fifth ave. when they come home. When the boys come back from the wars to New York they always march them up Fifth ave. When they go away they march them down Fifth ave."

BIG BROTHERS: Barbara Burkard, 5 years old, of Milwaukee, Wis., is very fond of her two big brothers. When her brother, Staff Sergt. Frank Burkard of the U. S. Marines, came home on furlough Barbara met him at the door and sang the Marine hymn in his honor. When her brother, Seaman, 1/c, William Burkard, came home Barbara sang "Here Comes the Navy." Little Miss Burkard is the youngest of nine children and was born when her mother was 46 years of age.

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Friday — Looking back over my trip to South America, I want to tell you today about my brief visit to Dutch Guiana and my trip from there to Brazil.

My few hours in Dutch Guiana were all spent at Zandrey Field, where we landed. This is about 30 miles from the city of Paramaribo, and I'm sure it must be a rather lonely place, though they tried to give our men good recreational facilities.

I was sorry our schedule did not give us time to go into the city near which we have a fairly large military establishment.

★ ★ ★

THE DUTCH GOVERNOR AND a number of officials came out to greet me and went with me to visit all the various field activities. Afterwards, there were some formal ceremonies at which a few of our men paraded with some Dutch units. I was particularly interested to meet the head of the Dutch WACs in this colony and to see one of their battalions parade.

After lunch, we took off for Belem, Brazil. For hours we flew over dense jungle and finally over the mouth of the Amazon.

★ ★ ★

I WAS IMPRESSED BY THE DIFFICULTIES which have been overcome in the jungle. It grows so fast and encroaches on cleared land so quickly that it requires constant vigilance to keep it down and yet, around our military areas they have even managed to do very efficient malaria-control work. There is comparatively little illness among our men.

Our men there are homesick, of course, but many told me they were much impressed by the possibilities that the country offered. Perhaps this is one of the areas where displaced populations can settle in the future.

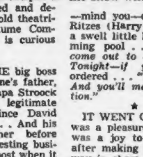
HOLLYWOOD, April 1 — If Olivia de Havilland can straighten out her affairs, and if there are no legal complications, she will do "Made in Heaven" at RKO.

Charles Koerner just bought the comedy from—and here's an amusing slant—Jack Warner, studio's former boss. "Made in Heaven" was originally bought by Jack with the intention of starring Olivia or Priscilla Lane. Now both girls are gone, so he sold it to Koerner.



Olivia de Havilland

I don't believe Warners will lift a finger to prevent Olivia from making the picture. Perhaps Jack knew there he sold the story to RKO that Charlie had Olivia in mind. Since Livvy is still in the Aleutians, she won't be able to discuss this romantic comedy about a wife who thinks she is going to die and then sets out to choose her husband's second wife—until her return.

I ASKED Arthur Freed whom he intended to star in Henry Beltaman's new novel, "Red Shoes Rum Faster." He said he hadn't an idea, but he is looking for another Scarlett O'Hara.

Bellaman sold his novel, which is a very short story, for $60,000. Not much, considering Bellamun's reputation as a writer of best sellers, that lend themselves to the movies. "Kings Row" was one of Warner's outstanding movies and there was a terrific battle over "Victoria Grandelet, which Para and Warners wanted, but which Paramount finally bought.

I understand she will divorce him very soon, although she was very noncommittal about plans. She may make a picture, and why not, since she is a fine actress.

Harry Kurnitz is going to London where he will write the scenario for "The Perfect Stranger," which Wesley Ruggles will make there . . . Joseph Pasternak wants Frederick Hollander to handle the music for the Marlene Dietrich picture he will make. Hollander is the man who wrote "Falling In Love Again" for Dietrich . . . If you want to read the mystery novel that your favorite actor and actress are reading, get yourself a copy of Jimmy Starr's "The Corpse Came C. O. D.," which is a thriller.

Boston After Dark

AN AMUSING LITTLE FREAK example of what can happen in the theater is that Geraldine Stroock, who does an inspired take-off of Katie Hepburn in "Follow the Girls," is the only principal in the show who does not appear in a costume fashioned and designed by the famous old theatrical firm, Brooks Costume Company . . . And what is curious about that?

★ ★ ★

"SIMPLY THAT THE big boss of "Brooks" is Geraldine's father, Jimmy Stroock . . . Papa Stroock has been around the legitimate theatrical business since David Belasco was famous . . . And his father and grandfather before him operated the interesting business which got a big boost when it made uniforms for the United States Army that fought the Spanish War.

★ ★ ★

AND LIKE OTHER fathers—innumerable other fathers—who have been around the theater all their lives, Mr. Stroock was opposed violently to his children having anything to do with the variable theatrical business . . . Well, Geraldine, as we have mentioned, as in "Follow the Girls" . . . Her sister Gloria is far away from the theater, too? . . . Yes, in the cast of "Kiss and Tell."

★

YOUR REPORTER finds one experience of his recent Hollywood jaunt an acutely vivid memory, and a haunting one . . . An hour out of Chicago, we encountered none other than our old and dear friends, the Ritz Brothers . . . Only two of them, but two is fine when three Ritz boys aren't available . . . Thoughtful and entertaining guys, the Ritz Freres and their presence on The Chief made the two days and nights a pleasure—rather than a bore . . . And when one is established as a friend of the Ritzes, service picks up on The Chief . . . They have made the trip so many times that porters, dining car stewards and club car attendants have come to know them, and knowing them means to like them . . . Well, Harry, who is the "funny one in the middle," was in the throes of actual ecstacy because he was returning, after eight weeks of playing in eastern cities, to his bride.

★ ★ ★

"WAIT UNTIL YOU SEE HER!" was his theme song . . . "Honestly, she's unbelievable!" . . . And then he'd shake his head . . . "What she sees in me is beyond my knowing" . . . Harry would say and to hear an actor make such an admission as that indicates the depth of his sincerity! . . . And the topic of Harry's bride kept recurring . . . She was an outdoor girl, but dainty and beautiful . . . Could she wear clothes! . . . Could she —mind you—cook! . . . And the Ritzes (Harry made known) had a swell little house with a swimming pool . . . "You've got to come out to dinner right away Tonight—if you can," Harry ordered . . . "You'll love the kid. And you'll meet her at the station."

★ ★ ★

IT WENT ON like that . . . It was a pleasure to hear it . . . It was a joy to know that Harry, after making the grade the hard way in show business, had found domestic happiness when he reached the top . . . When we arrived at Los Angeles, Harry and his brother Jimmy were on the platform . . . We had waited in the train for a guide from one of the studios to find us . . . And Harry and Jimmy were pacing the platform . . . "The bride is late," Harry said, cheerfully. "Remember now, we've got a date for dinner." . . . And, with a wave we parted.

★ ★ ★

THAT WAS A BUSY first 24 hours for us in Hollywood and Beverly Hills and your reporter seized the welcome chance of not being forced to read a newspaper . . . The night after the day of arrival, we met Jimmy Ritz at the desk of the Beverly-Wiltshire Hotel . . . Again it was good to see Jimmy, and we inquired if he happened to phone us that evening . . . "Haven't you heard?" he asked, and Jimmy looked pretty forlorn . . . "Heard what?" said we . . . "The bride served papers for divorce on Harry today. It's all over the papers."

Natural Hairline Guide to Glamour

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

YOUR OWN NATURAL HAIRLINE is the big news in coiffure for spring and summer . . . The new hats . . . the bonnets, pert helmets, cloches, berets, caps . . . all starting above the hairline . . . even the chic off-side or profile hats call attention to that hairline of yours.

It's high time you gave it a little study and attention . . . now that it's come out from under that bushel of pompadour it's probably been hiding in these past few years.

According to Michael of the Waldorf . . . famous hair stylist at New York's Waldorf-Astoria . . . this season you must build your coiffure around your hairline. Coiffeur to the cream of famous stars of the stage, screen, society and the professions . . . Michael insists that you consider your hairline first and foremost in any hairdo you decide upon.

"If your hairline is good, or even fair . . . and the odds are that it is," he says, "then every line of your coiffure should emphasize its points. For your hairline is the most effective expression of your head, its most beautiful line. The way it is groomed can make or break your hairdo, particularly this season when hairdos are so simple, sleek and close to the head. Every wave, every curl, every sweep of the coiffure should be subordinate to the hairline . . . so that nothing detracts from this important line."

FIND NATURAL PART

He suggests that if you happily possess a particularly fortunate formation along the hairline . . . then sweep the hair back smoothly at that point . . . leaving any softness or height in curls or waves to be used at the points where the hairline is less perfect.

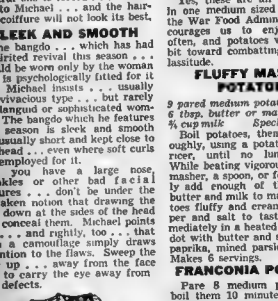
If you have a widow's peak . . . says this hair master . . . then stress it all the more . . . for it is a focal point of head beauty. Never part the hair in the middle . . . or else the widow's peak will disappear, he advises. Except for this . . . the hair should always be parted at the natural opening in the hairline.

Every head has such a natural part opening . . . and any girl can find it easily by studying her hairline for a few moments. Any part that does not follow the natural one is forced . . . according to Michael . . . and the hairline coiffure will not look its best.

SLEEK AND SMOOTH

The bangdo . . . which has had a spirited revival this season . . . should be worn only by the woman who is psychologically fitted for it . . . Michael insists . . . usually the vivacious type . . . but rarely the languid or sophisticated woman. The bangdo which he features this season is sleek and smooth . . . usually short and kept close to the head . . . even where soft curls are employed for it.

If you have a large nose, wrinkles or other bad facial features . . . don't be under the mistaken notion that drawing the hair down at the sides of the head will conceal them. Michael points out . . . and rightly, too . . . that such a camouflage simply draws attention to the flaws. Sweep the hair up . . . away from the face . . . to carry the eye away from the defects.



Beauty

THE EASTER BUNNY is a happy little animal for he has no beauty cares nor worries . . . but you, Milady . . . must "head" into spring and summer with a new hairline coiffure . . . to model perfectly the new-type bonnets . . . and the sleek, smooth hairdo decreed for smartness and chic. RKO Starlet Elaine Riley poses.

Serve Potatoes at Any Time

By Martha Lee

POTATOES ARE STILL listed among the plentiful vegetables in the fresh produce market this week. They're good quality potatoes, too—and the fact that they are so abundant is one good reason for their appearance on our tables daily—any time from breakfast to dinner.

Equally important is their nutritional value. When you serve potatoes you're serving abundant energy as well as two of the B vitamins, vitamin C, some iron and other minerals, and a bit of good quality protein.

Yes, these are all to be found in one medium sized potato. So the War Food Administration encourages us to enjoy potatoes often, and potatoes will do their bit toward combatting springtime lassitude.

FLUFFY MASHED POTATOES

9 pared medium potatoes: 3¼ lbs.
6 tbsp. butter or margarine
½ cup milk Speck of pepper

Boil potatoes, then mash thoroughly, using a potato masher or ricer, until no lumps remain. While beating vigorously with the masher, a spoon, or fork, gradually add enough of the combined butter and milk to make the potatoes fluffy and creamy. Add pepper and salt to taste. Heap immediately in a heated serving dish, dot with butter and sprinkle with paprika, mined parsley or chives. Makes 6 servings.

FRANCONIA POTATOES

Pare 8 medium potatoes and boil them 10 minutes. Then arrange them around the roast in the roasting pan and bake 40 to 60 minutes or until tender, turning them from time to time and basting with the fat in the pan. Plan so that the roast and potatoes come out of the oven at the same time. Remove roast to hot platter and place potatoes, if they are not brown enough, in shallow pan or baking dish, and brown under broiler, turning as they brown. Meanwhile make gravy.

POTATO FLUFFS

½ large pared potatoes (½ cups mashed) 2 eggs, separated
2 tsp. salt Speck pepper
3 tbsp. flour ½ cup milk
1 tsp. baking powder
1 tbsp. chopped parsley

Cook potatoes, then mash thoroughly and measure 4 cups. Add salt, pepper, flour, baking powder, parsley, beaten egg yolks and milk, and beat until mixture is light and fluffy. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Drop by rounding tablespoonfuls into deep fat or oil, which has been heated to 370 deg. F. or hot enough to brown a cube of day-old bread in 60 seconds. Fry until golden brown on all sides, about 1 minute. Drain on crumpled paper toweling, and serve very hot. Makes 6 servings.

POTATO PANCAKES

2 large raw potatoes (1 lb.)
1 tbsp. grated onion
2 tbsp. flour 2 eggs, unbeaten
1½ tsp. salt Speck of pepper
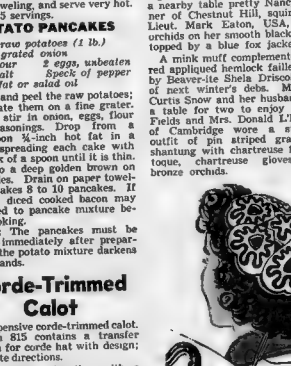
Melted fat or salad oil

Wash and peel the raw potatoes; then grate them on a fine grater. Quickly stir in onion, eggs, flour and seasonings. Drop from a tablespoon ¾-inch hot fat in a skillet, spreading each cake with the back of a spoon until it is thin. Saute to a deep golden brown on both sides. Drain on paper toweling. Makes 8 to 10 pancakes. If desired, diced cooked bacon may be added to pancake mixture before cooking.

Note: The pancakes must be cooked immediately after preparing, as the potato mixture darkens if it stands.

Fashion



RED IS FASHIONABLE for spring . . . and Adriana Caselotti . . . the original voice of Walt Disney's "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" . . . has selected this lipstick red wool dressmaker suit . . . edged with black braiding . . . and a black crepe blouse with bow of suit material . . . for travel-wear. Her hat is a tiny puff beret with a glittering pin, softened with draped veil—R. M.

'SULLIVANS' DUE THURSDAY

"The Sullivans," a 20th Century-Fox's tribute to the kind of American family whose sons are so gallantly giving all to their country's cause, will have its first local showing on the Paramount and Fenway screens on Thursday.

The studio instigated the biggest manhunt in film history to find five average American boys to impersonate the famous brothers of Waterloo, Ia., who died together . . . as they had lived together . . . when their Navy cruiser, the Juneau, was mortally hit in action in the South Pacific. These lads are Edward Ryan, John Campbell, John Cardwell, John Alvin and George Offerman, Jr. Thomas Mitchell, Anne Baxter, Selena Royle and Trudy Marshall head the cast.

"The Sullivans" was directed by Lloyd Bacon under the supervision of the United States Navy. The co-feature, "Timber Queen," is an adventure romance of the great Northwest featuring Richard Arlen, Mary Beth Hughes and June Havoc.

ANNE BAXTER is importantly featured in "The Sullivans," 20th-Century-Fox's tribute to the five famous brothers of Waterloo, Ia., who died together with their ship, the Juneau, when it was mortally hit in South Pacific action. "The Sullivans" is to have its Boston premiere on the Paramount and Fenway theatres on Thursday.

Utilities Sale Asked

PHILADELPHIA, April 1 (AP)—The United Gas Improvement Co., today asked the Securities and Exchange Commission to approve the sale of its interest in Manchester (N. H.) Gas Corp., to Harold C. Payson, of Portland, Me.

Boren Protests Profit Ceiling

WASHINGTON, April 1—Rep. Lyle H. Boren, of Oklahoma, chairman of the special House committee investigating Office of Price Administration procedures, has taken issue with Director of Stabilization Fred M. Vinson over threatened imposition of an arbitrary "profit ceiling" on the production of consumer goods.

Boren wrote Vinson in part as follows.

"Several constituents, representative small business men, and other manufacturers from all over the country are profoundly disturbed over your directive to the Hon. Donald M. Nelson and Chester Bowles of Nov. 16, last, and the explanatory letter of Jan. 26 which followed it.

"The statement in the last-named letter that consumer goods other than textiles shall be given treatment 'consistent in principle with that provided for textiles and apparel' and actual price orders covering such items as horse collars, leave them with the impression that your original directive of November 16 governs price readjustments for all consumer goods.

"It would help me to judge the extent to which the concern of manufacturers of essential consumer goods is justified if you would care to vouchsafe answers to the following questions:

"1—Why is a maximum margin of profit of 2 per cent to be allowed for essential consumer goods, in cases where prices must be readjusted, whereas the price adjustment boards in contract renegotiations have allowed margins up to 18 per cent in various instances.

"2—Is the maximum margin of profit of 2 per cent specified in the directive before or after taxes? Are earnings compared with those of the base period 1936-39 before or after taxes?

"3—If the purpose of the Nov. 16 direitive is only to stimulate the output of low-priced items, why is it not limited specifically to such products, instead of covering all "essential consumer goods."

Argentina Rations Power

German Prisoner Camp Combed for Missing Guns

TRINIDAD, Col., April 1 (AP)—Three missing weapons—two revolvers and an army carbine—were sought today by military authorities at the German prisoner-of-war camp near Trinidad where prisoners were found to have cached crudely fashioned knives and home-made liquor.

Lieut.-Col. Lambert B. Cain, camp commander, disclosed that a search for the weapons, missing from an escort guard's quarters since last week, incited prisoners to stage what he termed as a "sit-down strike."

During the search, the camp commander disclosed, a quantity of home-made "wine" made from fermented raisins and other fruits, and knives worked out from old razor blades and pieces of wood, were found.

"Those guns still being missing is a bad thing," Col. Cain asserted, saying "it was criminal carelessness on the part of someone."

Officers, theorizing that the guns might have been stolen for re-sale, checked Trinidad gun stores and second-hand shops.

Col. Cain did not appear concerned because of the prisoners' attempt to make liquor, explaining that "it's something they'll always try to do if they can get away with it."

Col. Cain said today that an officer, whom he declined to name, was under arrest and facing charges, the nature of which he refused to divulge. He said the three missing guns had been stolen from this unidentified officer, but that the charges against that individual involved an entirely different case and one unrelated to the missing guns.

Halifax Distressed Over 6 Air Deaths

WASHINGTON, April 1 (AP)—Lord Halifax, British ambassador to the United States, has expressed his "deep distress" over the death of six United States civilian airmen accidentally shot down in the Atlantic this week by British fighter planes.

In a letter to Sec. Stimson the ambassador asked his sympathy be extended to the victims' families.

Firebroom

The city-wide street cleaning campaign was momentarily disrupted today when one of the brooms on the street cleaning truck became ignited as it picked up a lighted cigarette, near City sq., Charlestown.

Damage to the broom was estimated at $20.

Sen. George Unopposed

ATLANTA, April 1 (AP)—Former Gov. Eugene Talmadge announced today he would not run for the U. S. Senate seat of Walter F. George, apparently assuring the senior senator another six-year term.

Aircraft Topic at JVA Session

Discussion of the comparative speeds, ranges, weight-carrying ability and firepower of offensive aircraft of the Axis and Allied Nations, highlighted yesterday's rgeular meeting of the "Defense and Aviation" Corps of the Junior Victory Army.

The session was held in the room of Miss Esther E. Larson, geography teacher of Oliver Wendell Holmes school, Dorchester, and sponsor of the unit which is the largest in New England.

Officers of the group include Comdr. Maurice Ames and Capt. Kenneth Brady. The corps has 221 members, all of whom are busy in various phases of home front work.

Their latest contribution to the war effort is the collection of canes and crutches for wounded servicemen. It is the first time any JVA corps has salvaged this kind of material.

All the members have assisted in collecting scrap metal, paper, rubber, kitchen fats, stockings and other war needs. In addition they have bought war stamps and bonds and donated to all charity drives.

To join the JVA, send your name, age and address to Junior Victory Army headquarters, P. O. Box 228, Boston, Mass. If, in addition to enlistment, you want the JVA insignia pin and membership card, enclose a 10-cent coin well-wrapped in your letter.

Read the next JVA story in Sunday's Advertiser.

Help down the Axis! Save waste kitchen fats for explosives.

Racing to Suffer Little From 4-F Work Draft

By JACK CONWAY

RACING HAS LESS to worry about the plan that would move persons classified under the Selective Service Act as 4-F than any other sport. This is why the turf sport, which opens the New England season at Narragansett Park on April 12, should establish new marks for attendance and mutuel handle. There should also be good racing.

Eddie Arcaro

The thoroughbred race horse is not of any value to the war effort and so will not be called under any work or fight order. He will be permitted to furnish thrills on the race track and help increase the mutuel handle in which the State shares directly and the federal government indirectly through income taxes.

Most of the trainers are men over 38 years of age and married. Many of them are more than 45 years of age. They would be among the last to be called for any work groups.

Jockeys between 18 and 38 years of age who are in 4-F would have to work in defense plants. Some of them would be able to ride two or three days a week. There are only a handful of jockeys in active racing service who are more than 38 years old.

Youngsters 16 and 17 years of age would get most of the riding assignments. There are men in racing who have always felt that 16 and 17 year old youths would do much better as riders if given some of the top mounts.

These riders might lack some of the skill of Eddie Arcaro displayed in the $25,000 Widener Handicap when he brought Four Freedoms in a winner over Sun Again who had Ted Atkinson at the controls. They would nevertheless give a good account of themselves.

The mutuel department could be operated by old men and by women. Garden State in New Jersey has used women as mutuel clerks. There were numerous school teachers, some of whom had college degrees, on the lists of the mutuel dept. at Garden State.

It is known that even before the 4-F situation came up that the question of employing girl mutuel clerks was considered by many tracks. Suffolk Downs had the matter under consideration several years ago. So did New York and Maryland tracks.

With the steady drain on manpower, it is a certainty that hundreds of women will soon be employed in the mutuel departments of race tracks.

★ ★ ★

Bettors Still Available

THE NOBLE breed of bettors will still be well represented at the tracks. There will not be so many young men at the races, but the older groups of men and women will be present.

Defense workers will also take in the races. One day at Suffolk Downs last summer my attention was called to a defense worker in a $10 line. He had a bunch of money in one of his hands. He asked for 20 tickets on a horse.

"Who are you betting for?" I asked out of curiosity.

"The boys at the plant," replied the defense worker. "We got a hot tip today. He'll pay 5 to 1 if he wins."

Incidentally the horse didn't win which is what usually happens to hot tips.

A large percentage of the attendance at race tracks is composed of women. Many of them do not work other than in their own homes, and have a few dollars riding on the races for their husband and other members of their family who cannot get to the track.

The come back money showed big pickups at times last season. This indicated that people who could not get to the races were anxious to back their choices.

Sailors to Meet Big Leaguers

GREAT LAKES, Ill., April 1 (AP)—Sailors stationed at Great Lakes Naval Training Station again this season will see most of the major league baseball teams in action.

Lieut. Mickey Cochrane, who is lining up his team after losing about all of his 1943 players, has arranged games with 14 of the 16 big league clubs. The two missing clubs are Washington and St. Louis Cardinals. They have no open dates in Chicago.

The sailors open their season April 23 against Michigan.

Majors' Hopes Gloomy

By JOE CASHMAN

BALTIMORE, Md., April 1—As the Red Sox start their exhibition campaign against Dick Porter's Coast Guard nine at Curtis Bay, this afternoon, they must be wondering if they'll get to start a pennant race 18 days hence.

And that's no April fool yarn either.

The baseball outlook was never as dark as at present.

The big leagues must retain their 4-F players to survive and the Washington lawmakers are contemplating a new regulation which would force all men in that draft classification to essential industry.

The magnates are making no comment on this but you can rest assured they are greatly concerned.

The game's chances, if such a law is passed, would seem to depend on the wording of the order.

FULL SEASON OUT

If it should say 4-F men in non-essential industry must go into war work, the majors might be able to carry on. For baseball hasn't been declared non-essential and from certain capital circles come promises that it won't be.

On the other hand, if a law should be adopted saying all 4-F's must find work in essential industry, then a full baseball season would be out of the question. For, by no stretch of the imagination, could the pastime be rated essential.

Were all 4-F players forced into war work, an abbreviated big league season might be possible.

Such an arrangement, however, would necessitate the scrambling up of the two leagues into eastern and western loops or else there would be no point to or interest in it. Home and home series could be run off only if the Sox and Braves, Yanks and Giants, Phillies and Athletics and Dodgers and Senators were in one wheel and the eight western clubs in the other.

MAY CLOSE SHOP

And the owners are likely to close shop before doing that. At least, they threatened to go out of business when the office of defense transportation suggested East-West circuits a year ago.

So, we repeat, the future is anything but bright at this writing.

Getting back to the situation as of today, the Hose were ready to present a fairly formidable lineup against the Cutters this p. m.

Every player down to see action, save Joe Wood, Jr., who will divide the mound chores with George George "Pinky" Woods, was with the Hose all or part of last season, though two of the cast will be playing new positions.

Roy Partee, reporting yesterday, was to catch the Woodian slants. "Skeeter" Newsome, checking in at the same time, was to be the shortstop in an infield that will find Tony Lupien at first, Johnny Lazor at second and Leon Culberson at third. George Metkovitch, Bob Johnson and Ford Garrison were to patrol the outer garden.

Appling Hospital Aid

ATLANTA, April 1 (AP)—Pvt. Luke Appling, White Sox shortstop and 1943 American League batting champion, has been assigned to the reconditioning service at Lawson General Hospital, near here.

Win Over Zurita Nets Jack $25,000

NEW YORK, April 1 (AP)—This is Beau Jack's 23d birthday, and sometime before dusk he'll step into Uncle Mike Jacobs' 20th Century Sporting Club office and pick up a $25,000 birthday present. The sum will be the former bootblack's bit of last night's $87,802 gate receipts at Madison Square Garden, where the bounding Beau pounded out a 10-round decision over Juan Zurita of Mexico City, the NBA's new lightweight champion who was making his first eastern appearance.

The clever and straight-punching Zurita made Beau Jack miss plenty of punches, but the gorgeous Georgian whittled out the verdict by having much the better of the infighting, and by forcing the action all the way in the overweight, non-title scrap. Jack weighed 136, Zurita 133¼.

ZURITA TO GET REST

George Parnassus, pilot of the Mexican scrapper, said he thought his boy won the fight. He also said he wasn't booking any more eastern appearances right now, but was leaving early next week for a rest in Mexico.

Beau Jack, with the Garden turned over to the circus starting Monday, must look for new gold fields to mine. It looks as if he'll tangle with Cleo Shans in Boston before long, and he also has a tentative date in Philadelphia for May, against an undetermined opponent, possibly Ike Williams.

Beau has been in the Garden so often the last few months that he should be paying rent. Last night's fray was his 13th main go there, and his third appearance of the month. The night's receipts, put on the line by 17,593 customers, booted Jack's total, 13-fight gate, to $1,035,279, of which he probably has received close to a quarter-million.

JACK'S HANDS HURT

Beau Jack came out of the Zurita fight with two injured hands, and a strained back. He hurt his hands hitting the Mexican, and hurt his back missing him, Beau said. Zurita's only marks of battle were some rosy red spots around his midsection, where Jack played a ten-round tattoo.

Bolvin Seeks Title Battle

Larry Bolvin, Providence, will be looking beyond Whistlin' Willie Roach, New York, towards a crack at the world's featherweight championship as a reward for what he expects to be his second straight victory over this foe in the 10-round feature of the Goodwin A. C. program at the Boston Arena Monday night.

Bolvin's bid can't be ignored if he can repeat his unanimous victory of three weeks ago in this return affair.

The Providence battler charges he has been getting the brush-off in championship circles. If his original plans had gone through, he might be N.B.A. titlist today, instead of Sal Bartolo. Bolvin was originally slated to fight Phil Terranova in the Boston Garden show but he was forced out of the picture by a sudden change. He took it all in good grace, realizing that his turn would come soon.

In the eight-round semi-final, Sammy Garcia, Quincy, will meet Jerry Darby, New York.

Angel, Terror Rated Even for Mat Bout

In spite of the fact that he'll have a 100-pound weight advantage, the Golden Terror, 379 pounds, will be no better than an even choice to beat Maurice "The Angel" Tillet in the main bout of the weekly wrestling show at the Arena Wednesday night.

The semi-final will pit the roughhouse style of Rebel Bob Russell against smooth working Jack Clayburne, Roxbury colored champion, while in the weekly special, Dr. John "Drop-Kick" Murphy, osteopath, will tangle with Manuel Cortez.

Braves in Shape for Start of Road Trip

By BILL GRIMES

WALLINGFORD, Ct., April 1—"If we are able to get out daily from now until we break camp Thursday," declared Bob Coleman today, "I'll guarantee the Braves will be physically fit when they start their exhibition games late next week.

"From what I've read in the papers, we are better off than most of the clubs. We work out in a wonderful cage, which gives the players ample batting practice, along with offering an opportunity for the pitchers to get their legs and arms in condition. And, that 'upper field' has been a life-saver. I didn't believe there was any soil in this part of the country that could dry as fast as that field. After a 24-hour rain, it was in great shape yesterday afternoon."

TO HIT ROAD

The Braves will hit the road next week. They are scheduled to play a game for the American Red Cross tomorrow at Bristol, Ct. Then, Wednesday, they will go down to New Haven to clash with "Coach Red" Rolfe's Yale nine.

Thursday, the "Colemen" will break camp after playing Choate School. Many of the regulars will leave for New York shortly after noon and the rest of the squad will depart after the ball game. There will be no baseball for the Braves on Good Friday but Saturday, they'll meet Newark, of the International League, at Plainfield, N. J., and then move into Newark for a Sunday game with the Bears.

The Braves will be quartered in New York from Thursday until Monday, when they will go to Wilmington, Del., for a single game with the Phillies and then will clash with the New York Yankees at Atlantic City, before picking up the Red Sox in Hartford, April 12.

The players, who are rejected by Mgr. Coleman, will report to Hartford, which club starts training April 10 at Bristol, Ct.

THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME

Harrington Hits Back At Critics of O's Trip

By HUCK FINNEGAN

Boston's Olympics took off for Baltimore today on the first leg of their impending trans-continental jaunt, and though they have been castigated in some quarters for planning the junket, those who listened to Coach Hago Harrington on the eve of their departure were convinced that it is in the nature of a good-will tour.

"The Garden had nothing to do about this trip," said Harrington at the O's farewell dinner. "It came about when Phil Henderson, director of the Pan-Pacific Auditorium in Los Angeles, attended a meeting of the E. L. Arena managers in New York and asked us to play there.

"Five railroad executives, all of whom operate west of Chicago, were called into conference and said the trip could be arranged nicely with no hindrance to the war effort. In fact it will enhance the war effort because 10C per cent of the proceeds of the first game in Los Angeles will be given to the Red Cross, and every other game will have a war bond angle.

"It is not a money-making venture," Harrington went on. "Bob Jeremiah, Gerry Desrosiers and Ty Andersen, all of whom are working in defense plants, will remain at home to take care of their jobs. Howie McHugh, who managed the club on several occasions when I was absent this year, will report at Camp Devens, Friday, and thus will miss out. Most of the other boys live in Canada and will be dropped off along the route. Only Hammy Moore (trainer) and myself will return to Boston. The boys will receive no remuneration for the trip."

O's Leave Monday

The Olympics play Coast Guard in Baltimore tomorrow night, entrain for the Coast at 4:30 p. m. Monday. They will arrive in L. A. Good Friday, the day Howie McHugh reports at Devens. Five games in 10 days are scheduled against Ching Johnson's club in L. A. Then the O's hop to San Diego for two games, move north to Oscar (Ice Follies) Johnson's Seattle rink for one . . . Follows a boat trip to Vancouver for a single game, thence to Calgary, Saskatoon, Winnipeg and Regina . . . Alan Rittinger will be dropped off at his Vancouver home, Vernon Jones at Saskatoon, etc. Most of the O's live in or near Regina, and that's why the trip was arranged to end there . . . Gold rings, emblematic of the Eastern Amateur Hockey League championship, were presented to Maurice Courteau, outstanding player on the team; Ty Andersen, Guy Labrie, Alan Stanley, Tommy Brennan, Gordon Staseson, Bob Jeremiah, Gerry Desrosiers, Russ Kopak, Alan Rittinger, Vernon Jones, Fern Flamon, Clarence Schmidt, George Kelly, Joe Schmidt, Jerry Junkin, Andy Mader, Trainer Hammy Moore, Tub-thumper Howie McHugh and Coach Harrington.

Ryan's Advice

The O's won the Walker, Boardwalk and Hershey Cups as they swung along to 41 victories, three losses and one tie . . . Tom Kanaly sat in for the missing Col. Brown as toastmaster, and Frank Ryan pinch-hit for the ailing Art Ross . . . Ryan contributed the speech of the night with his "clean-living breeds condition; condition breeds confidence; confidence breeds courage, and a combination of all three breeds a lucrative contract" . . . Mader and Stanley are Navy-bound and will not return next winter . . . Mader is not making the trip . . . Kanaly told the gathering that Coach Harrington was a "real wing" as far back as 1924 when he played on the BAA's "kid line" with Tubber Cronin and Gerry Geran . . . "I can recall the game the BAA played against Cooney Weiland's Minneapolis (amateur) team in which Hago scored all three of his team's goals." Score 3-0.

TROPICAL PARK, Fla., April 1 (AP)—Just before 1 p. m. today nearly 50 mutuel clerks, sellers and cashiers went on strike here. No direct demands were made on the management but it was reported they wanted more money.

Racing Director Jerry Brady and Jack Cleary managed to get enough men on the outside to man the ticket windows and business began to move as usual.

Dog Dates Fight Opens

Members of the State Racing Commission are charged with showing favoritism and being influenced by high political office holders in granting licenses for dog racing to three existing tracks in Massachusetts to the exclusion of a new, proposed track in Hancock in the western part of the State, in a petition for a writ of mandamus filed by the Hancock Associates, Inc., in Suffolk Superior Court yesterday.

The petition seeks a court order directing Charles J. Connors, chairman, and Bayard Tuckerman, Jr., of Boston, and Harold Reid Allen, of Brockton, members of the commission to revoke their refusal of a license to the Hancock group and also to reduce the number of racing days granted the Revere, Dighton and Raynham tracks.

School Hoop Season Ends

Mechanics nipped Trade 22 to 19, and Commerce trounced Dorchester, 40 to 31, to ring down the curtain on Boston's first basketball season in over 30 years, yesterday afternoon.

The Commerce victory over Dorchester was expected but Mechanics' triumph over Trade was one of the big upsets of the year. A victory for Trade would have given the Tradesmen the City title but now they have to share the honors with English and Latin in a triple tie.

Brothers Fly to Hub From Brazil to Wed

Two New York brothers, petty officers in the Navy, ended a flight of nearly 3000 miles from Brazil today to wed two pretty East Boston girls.

Tomorrow, Vincent Grangrasso, 23, will marry Lillian I. Sousa, 23, and his brother Jack will take Elvira T. Pierro, 23, as his bride in a double ceremony in St. John The Baptist Church, East Boston.

The U. S. Naval Air Forces, Registrar Frank Fay and Judge Frank Tomasello all became aids to Cupid when the Navy flew the boys home; the registrar held his office open while they got blood tests at the Boston Dispensary, and Judge Tomasello waived the five-day law.

The double romance began two years ago when Vincent and Giacomo (who prefers to be called Jack) met the inseparable chums and asked for an invitation to a home-cooked spaghetti dinner.

From then on they were a foursome. The boys presented the girls with identical diamond rings when they were assigned to a destroyer. The next day, however, they were ordered to sea.

The brothers flew here from Miami and didn't even wait to shave before attending to the premarital formalities.

Lillian is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore Sousa, West Eagle st., East Boston. Elvira's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Pierro, Utah st., East Boston.

The bridegrooms are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Grangrasso of New York city.

The boys have seen service in the North Atlantic, African and South American waters and have participated in several major engagements.
